

CONTENTS

Acknowledgments.....	9
1. INTRODUCTION	11
1.1 Conventions	11
1.2 Aims and purposes	11
1.3 Research history	13
1.3.1 The development of the hoplite phalanx.....	13
1.3.2 The course of hoplite battles.....	17
1.4 Sources and methods.....	18
1.4.1 Literary sources.....	18
1.4.2 Archaeological evidence.....	20
1.4.3 Methods used	22
2. HOPLITE EQUIPMENT AND ITS LIMITATIONS	25
2.1 The hoplite shield	25
2.1.1 Nomenclature	25
2.1.2 Materials and measurements.....	27
2.1.3 Characteristics of the hoplite shield	32
2.1.4 ‘Wielding’ the hoplite shield.....	38
2.1.5 The hoplite shield in combat.....	41
2.1.6 Hoplite race and pyrrhic dance: the case for the light hoplite shield	46
2.1.7 Comparison with a modern combat shield	53
2.2 Headgear.....	55
2.2.1 Typology	55
2.2.2 Characteristics of the Corinthian helmet.....	59
2.2.3 The Corinthian helmet in combat	61
2.3 Body armour	66
2.3.1 Breastplates.....	66
2.3.2 Corslets	70
2.3.3 Cuirasses and corslets in combat	73
2.3.4 Greaves	75
2.3.5 Additional body armour	78

2.3.6	Effectiveness of bronze armour	79
2.4	Offensive weapons	81
2.4.1	The spear	81
2.4.2	Swords and other secondary weapons	85
2.4.3	The spear in combat	86
2.4.4	The sword in combat	92
2.5	Physical limitations – conclusions	95
2.5.1	The weight of armour	95
2.5.2	Physiology	98
3.	THE PHALANX	102
3.1	The development of the phalanx: myth or reality?	102
3.1.1	The development of phalanx fighting: an overview	102
3.1.2	The Homeric poems	105
3.1.3	The Iliad and hoplite fighting	108
3.1.4	The phalanx in Archaic poetry	115
3.1.5	The phalanx in Archaic iconography	123
3.1.6	The Amathus bowl	130
3.1.7	The phalanx during the Persian wars	135
3.1.8	The Solonian census classes	141
3.1.9	The development of the phalanx: conclusions	143
3.2	The shield in phalanx fighting	146
3.2.1	Introduction	146
3.2.2	Rhapsodia	147
3.2.3	Comparison with a modern ‘phalanx’	155
3.3	Deployment	157
3.3.1	Width of file	157
3.3.2	Phalanx depth	167
3.3.3	The wings	172
3.3.4	Community ties in phalanx organisation	175
3.3.5	Place and function of the general	179
3.4	Othismos	183
3.4.1	A vexed question	183
3.4.2	The case against the mass-shove	187
3.4.3	Another purpose of the rear ranks?	194
3.4.4	Maintaining cohesion	195
3.4.5	Othismos?	198

4.	DURATION OF HOPLITE BATTLES	201
4.I	The problem of temporal designations	201
4.I.I	Introduction.	201
4.I.2	The phraseology of battle duration	202
4.I.3	Hoplite battles described as long	204
4.I.4	Ambiguous points of reference.	207
4.2	Contributing factors	208
4.2.1	Necessary phases	208
4.2.2	Different sectors faring differently	213
4.2.3	Pursuit	214
4.2.4	Physical limitations.	215
4.3	Unusually long battles.	217
4.3.1	All-day battles: a problem of sources	217
4.3.2	All-day fighting: Sphakteria	220
4.4	Excursus: the possible influence of literary conventions	222
5.	CONCLUSION	226
	APPENDIX: BATTLE INVENTORY	235
	BIBLIOGRAPHY	293
	LIST OF ILLUSTRATIONS	303
	INDICES	305
	General index	307
	Index of sources	321
	I. Literary sources.	321
	II. Inscriptions and papyri	337